On 16 November 2026, the Central Commission for the Navigation of the Rhine (CCNR) launched its new website: www.ccr-zkr.org. The redesigned website is fully in line with the priorities of the Swiss Presidency, which strongly supports the modernisation of the CCNR.

The new website presents a more attractive image of the Organisation, inland navigation and the professions. It showcases both the work carried out within the CCNR and the people who are involved: the Secretariat, the delegations from the Member States, the committees, the working groups and the large number of experts.

The website serves as the primary platform for presenting the role, remit and operations of the CCNR, as well as its various areas of activity, latest news and direct impact. It offers the public access to information and to its resources. It is aimed at professionals in the sector, institutional, political and economic stakeholders, the academic and scientific communities, the media and the general public.

A MODERN, ACCESSIBLE AND USER-FRIENDLY WEBSITE

The new design offers a modern, streamlined visual identity. The navigation has also been improved to provide a smoother and more user-friendly experience on both computers and smartphones.

In addition to these visual changes, the website complies with accessibility standards. It is available in French, German, Dutch and English.

The principal features are:

- A home page with an overview of the CCNR;
- An introduction to the Organisation, showing how it operates, its legal basis, its history and its international cooperation;
- A detailed presentation of all CCNR activities and regulations;
- A resource centre containing resolutions, standards, studies and much more;
- A calendar listing future meetings and events, together with key past events;
- The latest news from the CCNR.

The CCNR hopes that this new tool will raise the profile of its work and expertise, explain its activities more clearly and strengthen its ties with its various audiences.

ABOUT THE CCNR

The Central Commission for the Navigation of the Rhine (CCNR) is an international organisation that exercises an essential regulatory role in the navigation of the Rhine. It is active in the technical, legal, economic and environmental fields. In all its areas of action, its work is guided by the efficiency of transport on the Rhine, safety, social considerations, and respect for the environment. Many of the CCNR's activities now reach beyond the Rhine and are directly concerned with European navigable waterways more generally. The CCNR works closely with the European Commission as well as with the other river commissions and international organisations.
